

PRESS RELEASE

At the World IP Day, LES Austria invited interested parties to the Vienna University of Technology (TU Vienna) in order to discuss economic and legal aspects of licensing. More than 80 participants attended the event, seeking information on the registration of licenses and cross-border license agreements. After speeches by Susanne Lang (Austrian Patent Office), patent lawyer Daniel Alge (Sonn & Partner) and attorney Christian Gassauer-Fleissner and a presentation of biotech case studies by Daniel Alge, a lively discussion among participants ensued. The various sessions were chaired by a team of LES members: attorney Alexander Cizek (president), attorney Sabine Fehringer (secretary general) and Thomas Bereuter (vice president). The organisers as well as the event's host, Peter Karg of TU Vienna, were happy about the event's great success. President Alexander Cizek: "Gauging chances and risks associated with licensing is increasingly complex, in particular in the context of cross-border transactions. LES provides its members with useful tips and tricks and a suitable network for tackling these challenges."

If you have any questions please contact: Alexander.Cizek@dlapiper.com